

The new issue of the Saturday Evening Post, on the newsstands last night, devotes its lead editorial, praising an Arkansas Congressman for a new and constructive idea.

The congressman is Wilbur D. Mills, Second Arkansas District; and his idea is a bill to give small taxpayers a quick and cheap hearing on federal income tax disputes. The ranks of income tax payers have swelled from a few rich folks until they now include most of the adult population, the procedure on tax appeals is virtually unchanged from 30 years ago.

If you are going to tax the little fellow, then cut the relief cloth from his side, says the Post—which discovered that that's what Congressman Mills' new bill says.

The old ghost of man's fear that the machine will take away his jobs has been revived on Southern farms, according to a press statement yesterday by Harold A. Young, president of the National Cotton Council.

Propagandists, said Mr. Young, are opposing the mechanization of farming by asking the question: "What will become of the millions of men who will be displaced by machines?"

Mr. Young's reply is: Mechanization will cut down on farm jobs, but it won't increase unemployment—for the process is so slow that displaced workers will be absorbed in other jobs.

I think Mr. Young could have gone further, and have been still more specific. Actually, the record of mechanization—whether in town or on the farm—is one of increased employment.

Automobile manufacturers install labor-saving machines and assembly lines to reduce employment at the factory—but total employment in the automotive industry across the country is up, not down, because the increased number of cars requires more jobs in garages and filling stations than were lost in Detroit.

This has been almost uniformly true of the machine age all over the world.

Take my own business as an example: The linotype was invented to displace handsetting of type. Manual printers either learned to operate the linotype or gradually faded out of our trade—but total employment in newspaper and job printing shops increased.

Then, in 1935, Teletypesetter was invented to run the linotype key-board with a perforated tape. Employment did not decrease—it increased—for the gain in the number of lines set each day required additional workers to handle proofs, correction, and make-up.

Men who argue against the machine overlook the fact that the linotype couldn't possibly curtail printing employment in Hope—because without the invention of the linotype it would require a dozen or more hand compositors to produce a daily paper the size of The Star. Hope couldn't support a dozen hand compositors at a living wage. So the jobs that the linotype "eliminated" never existed—but the linotype did for a fact produce new jobs in the job which sprang up when a daily paper moved in where a weekly had been.

And this is the story for most mechanical inventions.

Truman Invites Bolters Back Into Party

Washington, Aug. 25—(P)—President Truman put out the welcome mat for southern party bolters today, but demanded that those who cross it fit in with the 1948 Democratic platform.

He delivered the invitation—strictly on his own terms—at a rousing dinner of the Democratic national committee a few hours after it had read five southern states' rights members from the high command.

Non-Translating Democrats in congress to fall in line with the Truman program, the committee exempted them from the party purge.

The first of revolt, however, already were burning anew. States' rights announced they are opening Washington headquarters to spread the flames. The whole party today, Mr. Truman's civil rights program.

It was Truman the campaigner—swinging free style in the manner of his "give 'em hell" stumping of last year—who proclaimed his party today "a national party, and not a sectional party any more."

"The tail no longer wags the dog," he said.

He went on to say that he won in 1948 without New York, "with-out the industrial East and without the solid South" and that he was "prouder of that than anything that has ever happened to me."

Then came the invitation: "And that doesn't mean that we are not inviting the industrial East and the solid South and all the rest of the country to join the party of the people, and help the country go forward. That is exactly what we want. That is exactly what we are going to accomplish in the next two years."

At the same time, he praised the national committee, which elected William M. (Bill) Boyle, Jr., former Kansas City police official, to labor chairmanship and purged the five southern states' rights members from its rolls for deserting the Truman ticket last year.

"I am overwhelmed at the way the situation has worked out," Mr. Truman said. "I don't think the Democratic party in the history of the nation has ever been in better condition to carry the battle to the foe."

Industry Incomes Greater on Tax Payment Basis

Little Rock, Aug. 25—(P)—An increase in Arkansas manufacturing and corporation income during the year ended June 30, 1949, is reflected in federal income tax payments.

Acting internal revenue collector, W. D. Self, said payments in the 1949 fiscal year were $32,191,432, an increase of 13.4 per cent over the previous year.

Total Arkansas income tax payments for the 1949 fiscal year, however, were $69,588,182, a 3.3 per cent decline. Self said the two figures were shown separately because of the reduction in personal income tax rates last year.

Vaughan Letter Tells of Plane Trip for Maragon

Washington, Aug. 25—(P)—Senate investigators today turned up a memo from Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan to state department authorities saying President Truman was personally interested in a prospective European trip for John Maragon in August 1945.

Agents of a senate investigating subcommittee introduced into its records a memorandum by Vaughan, dated Aug. 3, 1945, which said that Maragon was interested in visiting Italy for the Albert H. Verley Perfume Co., of Chicago.

The memorandum contained this pencilled note in the lower left hand corner:

"Col. Vaughan informed Mrs. Shipley (Mrs. Ruth E. Shipley, chief of state department passport bureau) that the President is personally interested in Maragon's trip to Italy—Col. S. agrees that he is 1 D."

It was signed JFS 8-28-45.

The military permit procedure in effect at the time was that "1 D" persons whose travel is authorized by the President.

The senators, digging into the question of whether there has been improper influence in the conduct of government business, have wanted to know how Maragon and other agents of the perfume company managed to get passage on military transport planes to Europe in 1945.

Committee agents also put into the record documentary evidence to the effect that:

1. Vaughan, the president's army aide, gave a letter of introduction to David Bennett, president of the Albert Verley Perfume Co., and an associate, to make a trip to Europe in May 1945. The trip was made in an army air transport plane.

2. Three other representatives of the company, including John F. Maragon, Washington man-about-town who formerly had entered the White House, made a trip to Europe in July 1945. This trip also was made in an ATC plane.

It was on the return from the July trip that Maragon got into difficulty with customs agents who found he had valuable perfume oils disguised as champagne for the White House.

The committee was informed today that Maragon settled that case for $1,500, including $1,145 assessed as a penalty.

Francis D. Flanagan, assistant counsel, introduced the various documents, including the state department memorandum.

Flanagan said "JFS" was a "Mr. Scanlon," assistant to Mrs. Shipley.

Senator Mundt (R-S.D.) commented that he thinks President Truman "probably" had no personal knowledge of what Vaughan was doing.

Mundt said he wanted to get the affair straight. He asked Flanagan whether Vaughan had interfered with Mrs. Shipley—"with or without the knowledge of the President, and in my opinion probably without the knowledge of the President"—to enable Maragon to visit Italy under a classification signifying that his trip had been approved by the President.

Flanagan: "That's correct."

Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.), when asked if the ATC trips Flanagan told of were made at a time when space on ATC was "at a premium because of the very great number of hospital cases that had to be brought back to this country."

New York, Aug. 25—(P)—Adventure is where you find it. And that's an old saw, a man named Martin Rodgers has given it new sharpening. He looks for—and finds—adventure in the telephone book.

In the past two years Rodgers, uncle of "South Pacific" composer Richard Rodgers, has hunted the Manhattan directory from A to Z, with some startling results.

Among other things, he has found himself:

—Sitting in with Chinese musicians who were making the night hideous in western ears with strange instruments like the huk-kin and the yang-chin;

—Dining with New York's homeless, hopeless men at the municipal lodging house;

—Helping dispatch tugboats in the New York harbor; —Watching a strange dance in which Albanian men plaster dollar bills on the foreheads of Albanian women. (He still hasn't figured out the story behind that one.)

—Facing a man with thinning, graying hair and humorous wrinkles at the corners of his eyes.

Bell Workers Seek General Wage Increase

Tulsa, Okla., Aug. 25—(P)—A general wage increase and improved pensions will be asked by 320,000 employees of the Bell telephone companies this year, a union spokesman said last night.

Joseph Beirne, president of the Communication Workers of America (CWA), said CWA would force management to bargain on pensions by legal pressure if necessary.

He told a union meeting here that the Bell companies have refused for 12 years to discuss pensions. "But we are prepared to take the matter to the supreme court," he explained.

Possible Coal, Steel Strike Faces Nation

Washington, Aug. 25—(UP)—The possibility of soft coal negotiations threatened the nation today with a simultaneous shutdown of its basic steel and coal industries within the next month.

Government officials regarded this possibility as a grave threat to the nation's economic stability. They said the potential effects of such a shutdown would surpass even those of the prolonged labor disputes of 1946.

In 1946, they said, there was a huge backlog of demands that encouraged both labor and management to settle their grievances and get back to work.

Even so, the steel industry was struck for 28 days, coal for 59, General Motors for 113, two big electrical manufacturing companies for more than 100, and shipping for 60 days.

The companies at that time were assured of tax rebates under wartime laws, and the workers had accumulated savings from their wartime employment.

Both sides believed they could afford the strikes.

This year, however, the backlog of orders has almost disappeared, the wartime tax rebates have been wiped out, and workers' savings are down to a minimum.

Soft coal operators and John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers union broke off negotiations at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., yesterday until Sept. 15. That's the day the date set for a "strike or settlement" showdown in the steel industry wage dispute.

Jury Indicts 2 Officials of Girls' School

McMath Indicates
One Official
Will Be Fired

Little Rock, Aug. 25—(P)—Gov. Sid McMath indicated today that Mrs. Fanny Goodman, indicted superintendent of the Arkansas Girls Training school, will be relieved of her duties tomorrow.

The governor called a special meeting of the reformatory's board of control for 10 a. m. tomorrow and issued a statement saying:

"Under Arkansas law it is customary to suspend public officials under indictment."

"I am sure the board will be guided by this custom."

Congressmen in Middle of Squeeze Play

Washington, Aug. 25 — (AP)—Members of Congress found themselves squeezed today between a military budget drive and the outraged cries of constituents affected by the proposed cuts.

A typical example was offered by a West Virginia member. He said he has been deluged up to now with letters urging him to vote for cuts in appropriations. Now he said, the same people are complaining bitterly against military cutbacks in his district.

The predicament resulted from Secretary of Defense Johnson's announcement yesterday that the armed forces plan to fire 135,000 of their 905,000 civilian employees, while returning 12,073 reserve officers from active to inactive status.

That program aims at a $200,000,000 saving during the fiscal year which started July 1, and savings of $500,000,000 a year thereafter. It would help bring next year's military budget down to $13,400,000,000. The 1950 budget totals $14,000,000,000.

Johnson said the cuts are those proposed by the three armed services themselves. They will result in the closing of about 5 defense installations and the elimination of a number of others.

Congressmen whose home districts are involved got the low-down from Johnson yesterday. Many of them complained bitterly. Others approved.

"It depends," said the western lawmaker wryly, "on whose ox is being gored."

'Goat' Woman Is Nearing Old Home

Syracuse, N. Y., Aug. 25 — (AP)—Mrs. Arthur Lamear, letter-day pioneer of Bethel, Vt., and Arkansas, piloted her covered wagon out of congested Syracuse today onto the open road for home.

Mrs. Lamear her two horses, eight goats, two dogs and 25 chickens, spent the night on the eastern outskirts of Syracuse and started out early this morning for Utica.

She is retracing the route she took from Bethel to Clarksville, Ark., last year. She and her husband abandoned their New England home there because they said the cold climate interfered with Lamear's full recovery from injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

Mrs. Lamear said they bought a farm in Arkansas and took a loss of $2,000 on the resale.

When Mrs. Lamear left Arkansas with the family chattels, her husband set out on his own. He is now working in a labor camp at Bryant south of Buffalo, and Mrs. Lamear said he probably would stay there until October.

Idealists Continue to Urge Formation of a United States of European Nations

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Over in Strasbourg, France, seat of the new council of Europe, idealists continue to urge that the 12 constituent nations join in forming a United States in which the members would sacrifice much of their sovereignty to the general welfare.

At long last this Utopian idea of the past century shows signs of at least partial fruition. Like many other great developments, the current activity has its genesis in dangers — economic, political and military — which can only be met by concerted action.

The latest exponent of this extreme proposal, former French Premier Paul Reynaud, ranks internationally as a major prophet. More often than most, during the Hitlerian menace, he foresaw the future. Now he calls for western unity to meet impending crisis.

Speaking yesterday on the grave European economic situation before the consultative assembly of the council, Reynaud advocated a real European legislature, directly elected by the peoples of the member nations. He declared that only in this way could the assembly acquire authority to merge European economies into the single conti-ental market, with one currency, which he maintains is demanded if Europe is to survive between America and Russia.

"Between these two giants," he said, "there is a place for a unified Europe, but not for a mosaic of independent states."

"The road we are following," he asserted at another place, "is a dead-end street. It comes to an end in 1952." (The Marshall plan is scheduled to terminate then.)

He was, of course, speaking as a financial expert, who among other things served as French finance minister during the critical days of 1938-9. He put the proposition bluntly, saying that such a step would eventually mean a sacrifice of national sovereignty, but nevertheless must be taken.

Upon this question of sovereignty very largely turns the whole problem. No nation wants to surrender it.

A wealth of experience lay behind the 70-year-old Reynaud's warning and plea for collective security. He became premier of France in March, 1940, and in the following black period had to announce to his people a succession of broadcasts some of the greatest reverses in his history. These included the defeat at Sedan, the surrender of King Leopold of Belgium, and the abandonment of Paris to the Germans. He resigned on June 16, 1940, after refusing to surrender to Germany.

The French government imprisoned Reynaud. On the day of his arrest he wrote Marshal Pétain, then serving a life sentence for treason, saying resistance was the honorable course for France. He was taken to Germany in '43 and returned to France in '45.

Reynaud foresaw the Nazi aggression and urged preparedness, but his was a voice crying in the wilderness. It was about that time, while he was finance minister, that I had a long talk with him in Paris. We covered a lot of ground, and at one point I asked him what he thought of America's tendency to confine its activities to the western hemisphere. He replied:

"There was a time when England thought she was an island. I waited for more, and when it didn't come I inquired if that was his complete answer. He grinned and said:

"That's my answer."

Reynaud is widely traveled and has visited the United States many times.

"I like America," he told me. "I like the American atmosphere of optimism."

He might have added that he was one of a minority who insisted that the French debt to America from World War One must be paid.

Trapped Heifer Hopes for An Early Harvest

Oscola, Wis., Aug. 25 — (AP)—A young Wisconsin cow with a long record of misbehavior, languished at the bottom of a partly filled silo today, waiting for an early harvest to bring her freedom.

Snoopy, 650-pound pet of 13-year-old Cherine Lampman, had to squeeze through an opening 20 inches wide and 30 inches high to get in. She was inspired at the time, however, since Cherine's father, Everett Lampman, was in hot pursuit.

Lampman caught the adventurous heifer chomping her way through his best field of green corn. He chased her to the barn and locked the door, but Snoopy headed for what looked like an exit.

Farmer Lampman heard a crash and popped inside just in time to see Snoopy disappear into the silo. Snoopy, unruffled and apparently unhurt by her 12-foot fall, got to her feet and munched last year's silage left-over.

Unlike Grady, the Oklahoma cow that holds the silo-sitting mark so far this year, Snoopy's silo is below the ground rather than above it. The entrance aperture is just about ground level.

Neighbors gathered at the farm, three and a half miles east of here, and decided the only way to get Snoopy out is to fill up the silo. Lampman juggled his farming timetable and decided to start cutting his corn crop this weekend.

Then the silo will be filled and Snoopy can walk — or be pushed — to freedom.

Someone suggested that the frisky heifer might enjoy her imprisonment, with tons of corn pouring in. But Lampman has that problem licked — he'll muzzle Snoopy and give her just feed and water till the job is done.

Widower Holds Own Sort of Church Service

St. Petersburg, Fla., Aug. 25 — (UP)—Widower Roy Acklin held his own sort of Wednesday night church service, in his wife's tomb, and thought today that the people who came received genuine help.

Only about 20 showed up for the weekly "open house" in the neon-lighted sepulchre, to hear his recorded message on death and his reasons for keeping the tomb open to visitors.

"I want people to get away from the notion that death is a mystery and a dark hole," he said.

Acklin thought that he might have more visitors if he kept open after St. Petersburg's churches end their mid-week services, but he did want to keep curiosity-seekers to a minimum. He opens the casket in which Mrs. Beulah Acklin's body has lain more than a year, only for those really interested.

The lights cast a soft blue glow and the soft strains of recorded hymns filled the mausoleum. The visitors sat in comfortable chairs and smoked while Acklin talked with them, and played the wire record of his set speech.

The retired mailman's wife died at the age of 32, and she was the kind of woman who let her husband smoke or lie on the bed with his shoes on. Acklin feels she would like the way he has fixed things up for her now.

When an old friend, a minister or an undertaker comes by, Acklin is willing to show him Mrs. Acklin's body, in an almost life-like state. He closes the steel-plated door of the tomb and reverently takes off his hat before removing the coffin lid.

From his own studies and his talks with members of the profession, Acklin speaks with authority and enthusiasm on the subject of body preservation. However, he does not say who embalmed Mrs. Acklin.

5 Convicts Still at Large in Mississippi

Patman, Miss., Aug. 24—(UP)—Five escaped convicts were apparently lying low today as a five-state hunt continued in full force with the addition of an airplane to spy them out.

For more than 24 hours there had been no sign of the men.

State troopers concentrated during the night on the Greenwood-Greenville, Miss., area, on receiving tip that the men might be there, but with no results. Road blocks did not halt them.

The fugitives are among the work detail Monday afternoon after stripping and disarming their guard. They stole a series of cars, and took civilian clothing from a home near Merigold, Miss.

There have been no reports of robberies which would probably happen if the men stayed on. "Woods," said state trooper Inspector Walter Smith. "They probably have a little money but would need food and weapons. They would have to get them by threats or force."

The men were listed as A. B. Burgess, 31; Noahson Walters, 26; Richard Emory, 21; William McLaughlin, 22; and Thomas E. Lane, 25.

About half of our sheep and lambs come from the grazing lands of Texas, California, Wyoming, Nebraska, Colorado and Idaho. Nebraska is the third largest cattle-producing state.

Monday evening the Wolf Booster club had a feed and organization meeting at the Junior high cafeteria. Carl Dalrymple presided and introduced Chas. H. Tompkins who reviewed the Curly Wolves

Mr. Tompkins envisioned a renaissance of the Wolves football fortunes backed by a peppy loyal Wolf Booster club. During the business session a executive committee was elected composed of Rucker, T. Murry, Frank Turberville, C. H. Tompkins, A. W. Hudson, J. T. Worthington, Burrell Whitmarsh and Dr. Jack Harrell.

A closing feature was a showing of a motion picture on muscular coordination given by William F. Dickerson. The Wolf Booster club invites all who desire to build a sound athletic system for Prescott to join up.

Ark-La Assets Tied Up By Court Order

Shreveport, La., Aug. 24 — (AP)—Records and assets of the Ark-La Corp., were tied up today by a federal court order obtained by one of the parent cooperative's ten members.

Federal Judge Ben Dawkins signed the order to tie up the books, assets, credits and properties pending a hearing.

He declined to include approximately $95,000 in cash as requested by the Southwest Arkansas Electric Cooperative of Texarkana, Ark.

The seizure was made at the Ark-La offices in Bossier City late yesterday.

Liquidation of the parent company was asked in the member's complaint, with assets to be prorated among the cooperatives. They include members in Homer, Delorider, Bossier City, Winnboro and Hattiesburg, La., and Camden, Hamburg, Star, City Texarkana and Arkadelphia, Ark.

The parent company has not functioned since its assets were sold in 1947, the Southwest Arkansas Cooperative asserted, and the directors have held regular meetings with increased fees to themselves without transacting business.

R. T. Davis, president of Ark-La, said at De Ridder, La., that he thought utility companies probably were responsible for the suit.

Davis told a reporter for the Texarkana Daily News that it sounded like a grudge suit to him.

Czechs Launch More Attacks on Catholics

Prague, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 24 — (AP)—Slovak Communist spokesmen today launched a new series of attacks upon the nation's Roman Catholic bishops. Church authorities here believed the attacks might herald a fall offensive by the government to win the state-church fight.

The attacks, reported by the Slovak Communist organ Pravda, came after several weeks of relative quiet in the controversy. Generally they fell into two classes—accusing the Catholic leaders of having collaborated with the Nazis during the occupation and of now promoting "subversive activities" against Czechoslovakia's communist-led government.

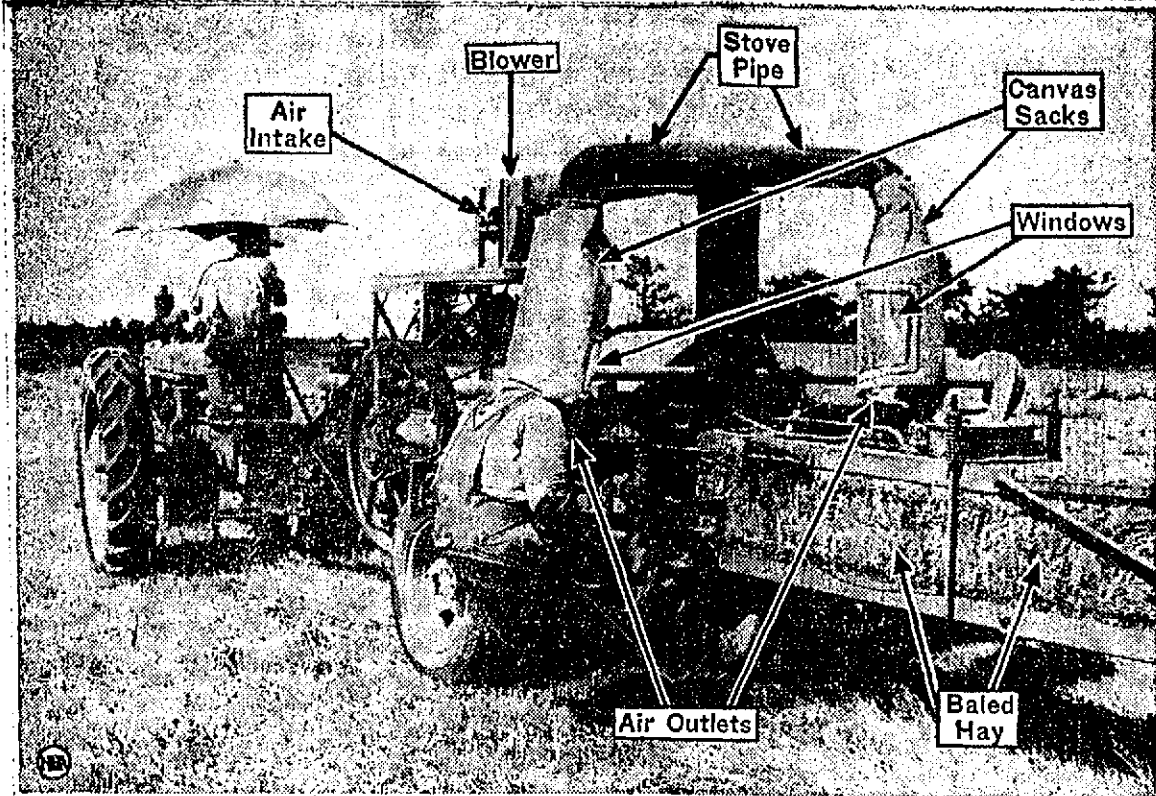

Church sources considered the timing of the new assaults significant.

They pointed out that a bountiful harvest has now been virtually completed. While it was being gathered the government went out of its way to keep things quiet in the Catholic Slovakia in order to gain the utmost cooperation from the peasants. Now the need for woeing such cooperation is passing and the government may feel free to push ahead with its plans, not only for enacting further church controls but also with its schemes for collectivizing the farms.

A broad church control law comes up for action when parliament concludes its summer recess.

THEY "GET THE SACK"—AND LIKE IT—The men who operate the hay baler on Walser Hahn's farm near Jefferson City, Mo., complained about the heat and dust. The workers put sacks, with transparent plastic windows, over their heads and work in air-cooled comfort.

Various Farm Plans Are Going the Rounds — Here Are a Few Details About Some of Them

(Editor's note: This is the first of two stories on the various, and sometimes confusing, farm plans in progress.)

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Aug. 24 — (AP)—Except for the experts, probably by this time no one knows the difference between the various farm plans kicking around in congress. The Gore plan, the Aiken plan, The Anderson and Brannan plans. What do they mean? They differ only in details but all are aimed at one thing:

Giving farmers some assurance they'll have a steady income, even if the government has to step in and help them get it.

This may seem like special treatment for farmers, and it is, but the purpose behind all the plans is to try to keep the complex American economy on a balanced plane.

For example: When farmers have money, they can buy what factory workers turn out. This keeps factory workers employed and when they have money they can buy what farmers raise.

The present plans are all out-growths of a plan that was put into operation back in depression days when farmers were having a hard time.

Money was scarce then and when farmers over-produced and their products flooded the market, the price they could get for their crops went down. So did farmer's income.

Yet, farmers needed a buying power to buy what factories made. If they had money, factories could hire men to make what the farmers needed. This would spread employment.

Congress decided that if crops somehow could be controlled, an production kept down to stay within demand, farmers might get better prices. And, if they didn't, the government would help.

So in 1933 congress passed the agricultural adjustment act, the triple "A" program. It worked this way: The government set quotas by announcing how much of each crop should be raised.

Farmers who agreed to cut down their production and stay within the quotas got guarantees of help from the government, if they needed it.

If the farmer couldn't get in the open market what the government decided was a fair price, the government would take over the farmer's crop, either by buying it up from him or giving him a loan, which in many cases was really buying the crop anyway.

The government did it this way: By guaranteeing a farmer that no matter what happened, he'd get for his crop between 52 and 75 per cent parity. That needs explaining.

In 1933 the government wanted the farmers' purchasing power to be fairly close to what it was in some prosperous period. It picked the period 1909-14 as a comparable, or base, period.

This meant that in 1933 the government wanted them to get for their crops enough money to enable them to buy the same amount of factory goods and other things that they were able to buy with their crop money in the period 1909-14.

One-third of the hogs in the United States are raised in Iowa and Illinois.

Example: Say the government in 1933 decided a farmer had to sell his corn at $1 a bushel in the open market to have parity with what he could have bought with perhaps only 50 cents in 1909-14.

The government didn't guarantee the farmer he'd get fully guaranteed with 1909-14 but it guaranteed him 52 to 75 per cent of parity.

So, if the market price of corn was only 70 cents a bushel, instead of that $1 the government said was parity, it stepped in and bought the farmer's corn at 75 cents a bushel, or 75 per cent of parity, which was $1.

In other words, the government wouldn't let the price of corn go below 75 cents a bushel.

This government buying-up of crops made them scarcer on the open market and tended to raise their price. This cost you, the consumer, more but it helped the farmer. In the long run, it also was intended to help you too.

Ever since 1933 the government has been guaranteeing the farmer some percentage of parity. The comparable, or base, period is still 1909-14.

The arguments in congress now are over plans to raise or lower the guarantees or change them around, but all of them provide for guarantees.

In other words, ever since 1933 the government has put a floor under farm prices and it still intends to do that.

Dodgers Need 6 Wins to Take Cotton Loop Flag

By The Associated Press

Greenwood's Dodgers, having opened up a four-game lead, can at least tie for the Cotton States league pennant by winning five of their remaining ten games. Six victories will give them an undisputed championship, even if the second-place El Dorado Oilers win all eight of the games they have left on the schedule.

Every game the Oilers lose will reduce by one the number of triumphs Greenwood needs to clinch a top rung finish.

The gap was widened a game Wednesday night as the Dodgers downed Clarksdale, 5-3, and Hot Springs outslugged the Oilers, 12-11.

Fred Waters limited the Planters to seven hits in 12 innings and drove in the two runs that made the difference with a single in the top of the 12th. Waters was in superb control after yielding a two-run homer to Ernie Davis in the first frame.

Dick Anderson's bases-loaded homer sparked Hot Springs to a 12-5 lead over El Dorado, but the Oilers rallied in the ninth. In that inning, the El Doradoans sent six runs home on five hits, three walks and a wild pitch before Jeff Peckham came to the relief of Don Schmudich and cut the Oilers one run short of a tie.

Righthander Eddie Albrecht, the league's winningest pitcher, posted victory No. 10 in his September debut, as the Pine Bluff Cardinals conquered Natchez' Indians, 5-1. Albrecht, far ahead in the league slugging column, added 16 whiffs and gave up but seven

Fair Enough

By Westbrook Pegler
Copyright, 1947
By King Features Syndicate.

New York, Aug. 24 — The experience of Leonard Irving, the congressman from the Third District of New York, has convinced him that the lower classes do get out of hand and that racial tolerance can be carried to foolish extremes. Mr. Irving is a member of the committee on labor. He is a citizen of Independence, Mo., and is president of Local 64 of the Hodcarriers and Common Laborers' union, which has been the dirtiest racket of them all. Local 264, with jurisdiction in Kansas City, has about 2,000 members. About 40 percent are Negroes.

A short time ago a rebellion reared its ugly head in the form of a court petition demanding an accounting and charging the hierarchy with overpaying themselves, spending union money on Irving's congressional campaign and grafting through an overtime racket.

The leader of this insurrection was Theodore Baldwin, a Negro with a long and apparently blameless record of union regularity. Mr. Irving was somehow prompted to remark that 82 of the 85 petitioners in the suit were colored brethren, as though this should discredit their case. Brother Baldwin said this was the first time anyone had tried to draw the color line in this local.

Congressman Irving flew to Kansas City for a meeting which 500 men tried to attend. Parliamentary procedure gave way to force and several brothers were stabbed or cut by splintered windows. There was blood on the floors, walls and stairs. The police escorted Congressman Irving home and after his return to Washington and a himself in executive session of the labor committee of the house.

These meetings are supposed to be secret but it is now common practice to pipeline the confidential matters into print, each side for its own purpose. This fact is frankly acknowledged. This digression will serve to explain how Brother Irving's remarks on "democracy" in unions and on racial discrimination were communicated to the public.

In executive session, Brother Irving bemoaned Brother Baldwin's ambition and said he had now decided that there was too much democracy in unions. He proposed to amend the laws right away so as to protect union executives from the ill-advised and embarrassing impudence of their subjects. As costed on that point later by Mr. Phelps Adams, of the New York Sun, he said that the unions don't use their dictatorial powers enough.

Brother Irving's international is the one which held no convention and elected no officer by popular vote in more than 31 years. During that time it administered millions of dollars by the whim of a handful of high racketeers who plundered the treasuries at will. It bought out three other international unions without any vote of the stiffs whose value in these sales was computed at so much per head, based on their yield and dues and tributes. And its constitution read that the union was composed of these racketeering, executive high-binders. The rank and file had no entity. This definition was changed slightly two years ago by a consideration of the members. The purpose was to protect the executive racketeers from personal responsibility for crimes against the Taft-Hartley law which had been common practice up to that time.

Brother Irving's trouble is solved by the court. The court is solving the complaint but that seems not to end the rebellion. His remarks on "too much democracy" and racial bias, which undoubtedly will be used against Mr. Truman himself although it appears that the President didn't want Irving for congressman, hurtly knows him and approves him only as a Democrat.

Brother Irving's methods and morals honor the tradition of the grand parent racket, the international union.

He suffered his boys to give him a "present" of a $5,000 Cadillac, because his wife had trouble with her left leg and this car was "one that you didn't have to use your leg on."

He already had such a car but "the boys wanted to give me another and I accepted."

There were no clarifying remarks to show why, with one car suited to Mrs. Irving's special need, his boys should tap the treasury to give him another. A per capita tax was levied to raise the $3,000.

He also explained that he charged the union with "overturning" for thinking about union problems after 5 p. m. and on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, for answering phone calls in overtime hours and for receiving applicants for work permits at his home during his private hours. He was not employed on an hourly basis but got $175 a week, plus pickings, so the rebels argued that overturning pay was inappropriate. One check for "overturning" alone was $3,800 for 14 months. He immediately took the automobile to Washington where it cannot cost less than $100 a month.

Trapshooters Set for the Big Meet

Vandalia, Ohio, Aug. 25 — (AP) — The dress rehearsal for trapshooting's premier event is today's feature of the Golden Grand American.

It is a 100-target race known as the preliminary handicap. Today's fray is run on exactly the same plan, and under the same conditions as tomorrow's outstanding event of trapshooting, the American handicap. But tomorrow's race is only the glamor of the big event.

The little fellows settled their championships yesterday as 949 paid in $68,000 in entry fees — the greatest in Grand American history — and they took it out for the class championships.

Joe Hiestand, the 42-year-old Hillsboro, Ohio, farmer, who has missed only twice in 900 tries this week, won the top spot with 200 straight and then cracked another 150 in a shootout to take the "double" laurels.

Dodger-Card Feud May Get Personal

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The spitfire battle between Brooklyn and St. Louis may develop into a personal feud between the rival managers of the pennant-hungry clubs.

Thus far, Eddie Dyer, boss of the Redbirds, has kept his peace. He has been openly hostile to the Dodgers. But not all Bart Shotton, the 64-year-old firebrand sometimes referred to as "Bartling Barney," is simply spoiling for a fight.

Shotton, back to his normal cocky self following a couple of smash victories over the Cardinals, the silver-haired pilot of the Redbirds disdained referred to the Redbirds as "just a so-so ball club."

"They're not much," Shotton dismissed the Cards today. "Here's why. We've never felt worse, played worse nor looked worse than we have during the last week. And yet those guys lead on us. In my book that makes the Cards no so hot."

"They've had all the breaks and still couldn't open up a big lead over us," Barney continued. "What are they doing to do when the breaks begin to fall our way, as I know they will. I think we're really straightened out. We're sure to take them now."

Informed of Shotton's remarks, Shotton said to say: "Lucky, eh? Yeah, we're lucky to have old pros like Musial, Slaughter, Marion and Schoendienst on our side. Let's see those guys play. I think I know we've beaten them 11 of 19. Yeah, pard, I guess we are lucky at that."

Shotton's Dodgers never looked better than they did yesterday, at least they were smooth, aggressive and positive spectators in their 6-0 triumph over the Redbirds.

Don Newcombe overpowered the Cards, giving them only six scattered hits and allowing only one man to reach third.

Everybody in the starting Dodger lineup connected safely. Gil Furllo, Roy Campanella and Carl Hodges hit homers.

In winning the rubber match of the three-game series, the Dodgers moved only one game off the league leading Cards.

The American League race tightened, too, when the pace-setter New York Yankees, playing without their ace Joe DiMaggio, took a terrific 13-2 lacing from the Tigers in Detroit. Thus, the idle Boston Red Sox moved up to within two games of the Yankees.

Wertz led the Tiger attack with a pair of home runs, although 13 walks issued by Yankees pitchers did just as much damage. One of Wertz' blows came with the bases full. Art Houtteman breezed to his 11th victory with a 10-hit effort.

SPORTS DOWNPOUR

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.
Atlanta, Aug. 25 — (AP) — Unless Dynamite Goodloe gets homesick on the just before the national amateur and decides to come back home, golf galleries in Rochester, N. Y., will watch the best show in the game today.

Dynamite, whose name is an almost forgotten William, didn't win the amateur in Memphis last year, but he got to the fifth round. He's never won a big tournament, but it's not at all improbable that he will someday.

Bobby soxers won't swoon or croon over him like they do over "Frankie Boy" Stranahan, but Dynamite is a good humor and good golf player who will draw the rest of the crowd.

Dynamite is five feet, five inches tall, 25 years old, usually weighing 250 pounds and looking delectable. He has huge hands and a mountain type locomotive.

Most people don't know that cigars are made in sizes Dynamite prefers. They're long, fat, black and have a certain strength of odor.

He'll probably bring along some pants this year as well as shorts, although he prefers shorts. In case his legs do show, they'll be even larger than you expect.

Dynamite is an ex-freshman guard on the Georgia Tech football team. When Dynamite mounts the tee you'll swear he can't reach as far as the ball. But he can. He hits the ball. At least he just as straight drives and they're just as straight. He sights through tiny, scintillating eyes which peer happily from a round, baby face, swings those port arms with his big shoulders, and if anyone is in mid-air way 300 to 350 yards out, they'd better duck.

On the way to his ball Dynamite will consult his caddy about the best shot and very likely do as he's told. At least he did in Memphis when his caddy, "Dynamite" was with him. Dynamite and Dynamite were shaped alike, only Dynamite's skin was black.

Dynamite very likely won't be in Rochester and that's Rochester's loss, because that pair feeling off can be the event of the day. Dynamite qualified for the 1949 meet with a pair of 72's over Atlanta's East Lake No. 1, the course where Bobby Jones learned to play.

Seventy-twos at East Lake are most respectable and if Dynamite still is on his game, Rochester will see him for several days, and he'll be much happier for his acquaintance.

Robinson Asks Shot at Middle Title

New York, Aug. 25 — (AP) — "I want a shot at the middleweight title. I think I've earned it."

Welterweight Champion Ray Robinson made the statement last night. After he cut down socking Steve Bellosie in seven rounds at Yankee stadium.

Iron-cold Middleweight Champion Jake LaMotta and Marcel Cerdan, the former 160-pound boss who meet in a return clash for the crown here Sept. 28, were among the bumper throng which saw last night's prize fight.

Robinson hit Bellosie with every shot in the book. He won every round but the fifth when he was bothered for just two minutes by a desperate, do-or-die attack from the balding, 30-year-old ex-savior.

Sugar Ray flattened Steve near the end of the seventh with a perfect left hook to the chin as you see in the ring or movies. Referee Ed J. Cassidy's count was at five when the bell rang. Bellosie's handlers hauled him to his corner. But Steve was out cold. Seconds later, Bellosie's manager, Eddie Walker, signalled to Joe that his man was over. Under New York rules it goes into the book as a seven round kayo.

Robinson weighed 143 1-2 and Bellosie 158. Lamotta and Cerdan have said that after their September bout would meet last night's winner, but nothing is in writing.

Volts Stretch Lead to Four Full Games

By The Associated Press
The Nashville Vols stretched their Southern association lead to four games over Birmingham Wednesday night by clipping the Barons, 4 to 3, before 12,000 in the losers' park.

The runner-ups outthit the Vols, 16 to 7 but failed in the clutch. The Vols' Tookie Gilbert broke the ice with two-run homer in the sixth. But Fred Hatfield hit a two-run circuit smash for the Barons in the bottom half of the inning.

Then Nashville exploded for two more tallies in the eighth. The Barons got a rally started in the same frame, but it was cut off when the tying run was nipped at the plate.

Ken Olson throttled the Memphis Chickasaws on one hit from the sixth on a relief role and hurled the Mobile Bears to a 5 to 2 decision.

New Orleans divided a twin bill with the Travelers at Little Rock. Jack Kistner limited the Travels to three hits in shutting the out, 1 to 0, in the seven-inning opener. Little Rock yielded 13 hit batters to the nightcap, 7 to 4.

Jack McClendon Strikes Out 21 for Hazen

Jack McClendon, top hurler for the Hope American Legion baseball team which ended its season last week, is doing a good job for Hazen in state amateur play.

Jack batted the Little Rock Independents 3-2 Tuesday night but had to strike out 21 men to win.
